Case Study: Bar Three Zero, Ashford

Outline

Bar Three Zero was transformed by a £½ Million total refurbishment in 2003, bringing the West End to Ashford. The result was a sleek, stylish venue for social dining, flared cocktails and hosting DJs. The sound and lighting brief was to enhance the high quality of the interior décor for lunch, early evening and late night clientele.

Challenges

Match the high quality finish and ambience of the design with sound quality and non intrusive hardware.

Programmable options for varied use.

Designing in intelligent options for expansion, flexibility or special events.

Technical

Distinctively stylish EV speakers matched the interior perfectly. Audio supplied by Cloud amps, with significant system headroom maintained clear sound throughout all bar zones.

A programmable updatable hard drive keeps the audio content cool and contemporary. Programmed tempo changes through the day smoothly build towards the late night clientele.

Paradim lighting controls match the tempo changes with subtle variations in lighting.

The addition of DJ console, Sanyo projector and motorised screen enables extra events and sports screenings.
